

HER FRIEND'S GOOD ADVICE

The Results Made This Newburg Lady Glad She Followed Suggestion.

Newburg, Ala.—"For more than a year," writes Myrtle Cothrum, of this place, "I suffered with terrible pains in my back and head. I had a sallow complexion, and my face was covered with pimples. Our family doctor only gave me temporary relief.

A friend of mine advised me to try Cardui, so I began taking it, at once, and with the best results, for I was cured after taking two bottles. My mother and my aunt have also used Cardui and were greatly benefited. I shall always praise Cardui to sick and suffering women."

Cardui is a purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, tonic remedy for women, and will benefit young and old. Its ingredients are mild herbs, having a gentle, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution.

Cardui has helped a million women back to health and strength.

Have you tried it? If not, please do. It may be just what you need.

N. B.—Write for Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper, on request.

Governor Aide in Making Salem Dry. Salem, Or.—Governor West took a hand in the fight to make the town "dry," and, as a result, the city council instructed the mayor and city attorney to inform the management of the Salem brewery and two fraternal organizations which have club houses that they would be prosecuted unless they ceased selling intoxicating beverages. The brewery, it is charged, has been delivering beer at residences, and the clubs have been selling intoxicating drinks the same as before the people voted the city "dry."

The reason assigned for placing the ban on the brewery and clubs is that they have no licenses.

Ex-Train Robber Would Be Governor. Oklahoma City, Okla.—Al Jennings, reformed bandit and train robber, who is now a respected attorney at law, will be a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor of Oklahoma next year.

Oregon Agricultural College FARMERS' WEEK

December 8 to 13, 1913.

This will be a notable event in the educational history of Oregon.

Farmers' Co-operation will be the leading topic of a stimulating series of lectures. The week will be crowded with discussions and demonstrations in everything that makes for the welfare of the farmer and home maker.

WINTER SHORT COURSE

January 5 to 30, 1914.

The college has spared no effort to make this the most complete short course in its history. A very wide range of courses will be offered in General Agriculture, Horticulture, Animal Husbandry, Dairying, Poultry Keeping, Mechanic Arts, Domestic Science and Art, Commerce, Forestry and Music. Numerous lectures and discussions on Farmers' Co-operation at home and abroad, will be a leading feature. Make this a pleasant and profitable winter outing. No tuition. Accommodations reasonable. Reduced rates on all railroads. For further information address,

H. M. TENNANT, Registrar, Corvallis, Oregon.
Farmers' Business Courses by Correspondence without tuition.

To test Malthoid

Malthoid has been under water for years in a certain made lake in Australia. It is used to prevent seepage and it has been a perfectly water-proof and water-tight lining since the day it was applied.

Malthoid is made to last and does it's a roofing that commands respect because it renders service.

Empire Lumber Co.
Ontario, Oregon

BISHOP BRENT TO CONTINUE WORK

Devotes Life to Aiding the Filipinos in Every Way.

FOR BETTER EDUCATION.

Churchman Has Civilized Many Tribes. Some Formerly Lived in Tree Tops, and Now They Own Comfortable Houses—He Hopes to Eliminate the Chronic Ailments as Malaria, Etc.

New York.—A national committee has been formed to help the work of Bishop Charles H. Brent among the savages in the Philippines. Bishop Brent, who attended the Episcopal convention, returned to the Philippine Islands to continue his work among the Moro tribes. He is a great believer in the possibilities for Christian work among these little brown people, who subsist on camotes and corn, wear no garments and make their homes in tree tops.

His friends in this country have just organized a national committee for up-building the wards of the nation. This committee is working under the auspices of the Harmony Club of America, which has a membership of several thousand men and women throughout the United States who are interested in uplift work.

BISHOP CHARLES H. BRENT.

Bishop Brent has been in the Philippines since 1901 and has devoted his life to this work in the islands. He has already accomplished great good among these wards of the United States. For instance, in one section families who were dwelling in tree tops two years ago now have comfortable homes in decent villages and are cutting their grass with American lawn mowers. The telephone, telegraph, sewing machine, automobile, railroad, farming tools and other modern inventions are increasingly welcomed and used by the natives, who are not devoid of intellectual capacity and have considerable manual dexterity.

The plans of Bishop Brent take in the social, industrial, educational and evangelical work among the million or more pagan and Moro inhabitants. He hopes to cure them of their chronic ills, such as malaria, hookworm, black fever and the like and teach them how to live so as to avoid the tropical diseases, most of which are due not to the climate, but to unhygienic habits.

NEW VESSELS FOR CANAL.

Captain Announces Line Between Pacific Coast and Norway.

Tacoma, Wash.—Captain Otto Sverdrup, companion of Captain Amundsen in arctic and antarctic exploration, has announced here that the Norwegian Steamship company, in which he is interested, will operate four steamships through the Panama canal to Pacific coast ports, bringing paper pulp and carrying back salmon, fruit and lumber. Captain Sverdrup will join Captain Amundsen at Colon to accompany the Fram through the Panama canal late in November.

A Boston firm announces that it will operate eight steamships to the Pacific coast by way of the canal, using the name Boston-Pacific line.

N. NG—THAT'S HIS NAME.

Harvard Student Refuses to Tell How It Is Pronounced.

Cambridge.—Harvard with its great cosmopolitan enrollment has a catalogue for the present year that would make the ordinary name specialist put on his spectacles and gasp for air. N. Ng is a junior and K. S. Ma is in the graduate school. R. G. Wee is unclassified.

Harvard has four Brewers, two Beers, one Case and a Rueter. There are three Weeks, six Days, one each of Love, Maiden, Legg, Darling, Joy, Morningstar, Watchmaker and Shu. A. B. See, known as the "human alphabet," is a senior. The Smiths, forty-six strong, are the predominating family in college.

INSECT LOVER A GREAT CHARACTER

Has Devoted Fifty Years to Study of Little Beings.

ALSO A CHARMING WRITER.

Jean Henri Fabre Is Known as Discoverer of New World—Books Arouse Interest Among Famous Men—For Sake of Science He Endured Many Miseries—Will Have a Monument.

Paris.—Jean Henri Fabre has been called the Homer of the insect world. For fifty years he has studied insects and their ways more closely and continuously perhaps than any other man. Add to this the fact that he is a poet as well as a man of science, that he writes with peculiar charm, and it will be understood why his books about insects have aroused the enthusiasm of such men as Maurice Maeterlinck and Frederic Mistral.

They refer to him as the discoverer of a new world. He has been compared to La Fontaine, whose fables give evidence of his love for beasts. Their writings show the same freshness, simplicity and charm. Darwin was struck by the patience and ingenuity exhibited by M. Fabre in penetrating the secrets of insects, and in the "Origin of Species" he refers to him as an inimitable observer.

An English translation of M. Fabre's book "The Life of a Spider" has lately been published. He was born in the south of France, was the son of poor parents, and his whole life has been one of uninterrupted labor.

As a lad he taught himself to read at night by the light of a blazing pine knot. In school he paid his tuition fees by serving as a choir boy. He won a scholarship at the normal school at Avignon and became a teacher, finally rising to the grade of professor.

It was while he was attached to the lycee at Avignon that he came across the entomological works of Leon Dufour, and thereafter the course of his life was changed. He saw how incomplete was the state of the science of entomology, and what he saw opened to him a magnificent field of study. Thereafter as soon as he was able he gave up teaching, devoted himself to the study of insects and endured many miseries for the sake of science.

He went to live in a cottage with rose tinted walls and green blinds at the little village of Serignan, on the road from Orange to Valreas. For years the neighboring peasants knew little of him. Then one day they learned that a great scholar was dwelling among them, and now he is the glory of the village.

He has used incredible patience and ingenuity, guided by sympathy, in studying insects. Observation and study in the laboratory did not tell him what he wanted to know. It was necessary for him to watch the free insects in their natural environment.

What he saw he described sympathetically, poetically, vividly. His writings interest the general reader as much as the entomologist. He described with equal care the industry of the bee and the wickedness of the preying mantis, that fierce insect which devours its wives and charms its victims with what the entomologists call its spectral pose.

Maeterlinck wrote of him: "He devoted to the task of surprising their little secrets, which are the counterpart of the greatest mysteries, fifty years of an existence solitary, misunderstood, poor, often approaching want, but illumined each day by the joy which is brought by a truth, which is the human joy above all others. Little truths, you will say, those which are offered to us by the ways of a spider or a cricket. There are no little truths. There exists but one, of which the mirror to our uncertain eyes seems broken, but each fragment of it, whether it reflects the evolution of a star or the flight of a bee, contains the supreme law."

M. Fabre is now ninety. Honors have come to him. His fame is widespread. He is no longer able to pursue his studies. He sits day after day smoking his pipe in the dining room of his cottage.

Not long ago Frederic Mistral, the famous octogenarian poet of Provence, made an appeal in his behalf on the ground that he was in a lamentable condition of undeserved poverty. This M. Fabre denied. The French government granted the aged entomologist a literary pension of $300 a year. Later still the Academy of Sciences of France awarded him a prize of the value of 4,000 francs. A minister of state has paid an official visit to him, and it is proposed to erect a statue in his honor at Avignon.

WALKS 360 MILES TO "PEN."

Is Finally Admitted to Five Year Term After Court Error.

Little Rock, Ark.—An error in the court routine caused "Buck" Patterson to walk 360 miles to begin his sentence to five years in the penitentiary here for manslaughter. Patterson, fifty-six, was convicted at Russellville, 190 miles from here.

He had always borne a good reputation, and upon his request was allowed to make the trip alone.

Many Dead in Texas Floods. Houston, Tex.—The number of dead in the flood which has spread over the lowlands in half a dozen counties in south central Texas reached 150. Four-fifths of the dead were negro farm hands.

Montgomery Ward Dies. Chicago.—Montgomery Ward, who gained a fortune as a pioneer in mail-order merchandising, died here of pneumonia. Mr. Ward was 70 years old.

Summons.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Malheur, ss.

Mollie L. Skeffington, Plaintiff,

vs.

Nelson J. Skeffington, Defendant.

To Nelson J. Skeffington, Defendant.

In the name of the State of Oregon:

You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit by Saturday the 3rd day of January, A. D. 1914, or for want thereof plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint, on file herein, i. e. for a decree forever dissolving the bonds of matrimony heretofore and now existing between plaintiff and defendant and for the custody of Winsie R. Skeffington, the issue of the union between plaintiff and defendant, and for a decree barring all interest of the defendant in lots 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5, in block No. 174, in the city of Ontario, Oregon. This summons is served upon you by publication thereof in the Ontario Argus, a weekly newspaper, published at Ontario, Oregon, for six consecutive weeks, by order of Hon. Geo. W. McKnight, County Judge of Malheur County, Oregon.

Dated November 20th, 1913.

Date of first publication November 20th, 1913; date of last publication, January 1st, 1914.

C. McGonagill,

Attorney for plaintiff.

The Ontario National Bank

United States Depository
State of Oregon Depository

Is Our Bank Your Bank? If not, we cordially invite you to make our bank your bank. We have the usual Safeguards of Fire Proof Vault, Burglar Proof Safe, Bonded employees, and do business in a conservative manner. -:- -:- -:-

Capital and Surplus, $80,000

5 Per Cent Net on Time CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY EXCURSIONS

East
and West

Via
O. S. L. & U. P.

Remember--
The
Union Pacific
System is the
Direct Route East

THROUGH CARS

AUTOMATIC
Electric
Block
SAFETY SIGNALS

Very low round trip fares from Oregon Short Line points to Denver, Kansas City, St. Louis, Memphis, Omaha, Chicago, St. Paul, San Francisco, Los Angeles and many other points.

Tickets on Sale

November 22, 24 and
December 20, 22, 1913

Long Limits;
Diverse Routes.

See any O. S. L. Agent for rates and further particulars or write

D. E. BURLEY,
General Passenger Agent,
Salt Lake City, Utah.

Christmas Gifts

See Our Select Showing

The time will soon be here again when little folks tell Santa what they want him to bring them. We have made special arrangements with Mr. Claus to have a big display of his choicest new gifts on exhibition at our store from now until Christmas. The little folks will be welcome and here they will find the very toys they want most of all.

For Grown-ups we offer a very complete line of attractive gifts, including good values at all costs, with many in the moderate price range. We aim to have something that will suit every customer. Do your Christmas shopping here and maybe we can make it easier and more satisfactory for you. At least, we'll do our best.

Cash Variety Store